4. Start the process to take the test.

Note: the whole online testing process has changed and now allows a renewing judge to obtain their password directly from the platform on the day of testing and at the same time instantly send their Proctor's code to email at the address that World Sailing has on file for them.

It should be received within minutes, then be viewed so the test may be accessed (check your spam folder to see if it was kicked out). If there are any issues with getting on the site, and/or with the test. Please, only contact the Testing Working Party (TWP) at: ijrtwp@worldsailing.online.

Note: registering and obtaining your password and the Proctor’s code can be done just before taking the test. The Proctor must be a current certified World Sailing race official and both you and your Proctor must have access to their email system to obtain the newly sent the World Sailing password and code.

5. To take the test

5.1. Log back in to the test with your URL address and with your Proctor with you (In this new system testing can be the same day, time and place that you were when you registered).

6. In case you forgot your password enter your registered email and click “Continue”. The new password will be sent to your email address on file with World Sailing.
